FoxTrot Personal Search™

Welcome to FoxTrot Personal Search™ for Mac - public beta preview

FoxTrot Personal Search™ is a brand new application delivering the fastest, most focused and precise way to find data in your files. Based on the revolutionary FoxTrot search engine - used in more than 40 countries by users of CTM's PowerMail \(www.ctmdev.com\), FoxTrot Personal Search brings high performance document retrieval and indexing to your most important files. For users of Mac OS X 10.4 FoxTrot Personal Search extends Spotlight in several ways. Users of Mac OS X 10.3 and 10.2 get with FoxTrot Personal Search the first truly useful find-by-content solution. You will be surprised how fast and accurately you will find information on your Mac.

The public beta release of FoxTrot Personal Search is now available (with unlimited search capabilities and index updates running for 60 days) at www.foxtrot.ch.

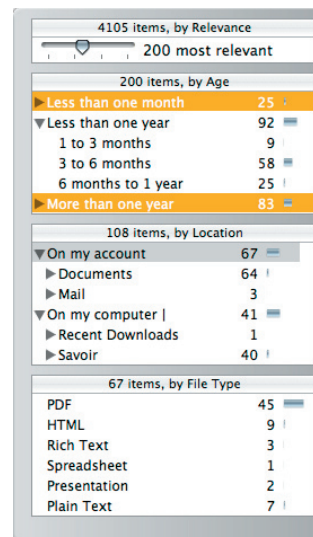

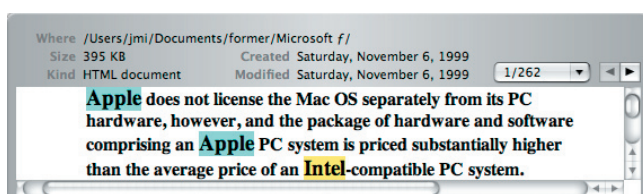

Why FoxTrot Personal Search?

If you're using Mac OS X 10.4

In addition to taking full advantage of Spotlight's capability to handle hundreds of types of files, FoxTrot Personal Search extends Spotlight in several ways:

- in-context display of found terms

FoxTrot indexes file contents and metadata (file name, author, title and more). Instead of merely showing which files contain your keywords, FoxTrot Personal Search highlights these terms in a preview of the document itself. You can navigate to next and previous occurrences, jump to a particular hit and select text, all without needing to launch or switch to another application. FoxTrot Personal Search displays full PDFs, styled text documents and pictures, and will even play QuickTime movies and mp3 files you were looking for.

- dynamic categorization

In order to "zero in" on the documents which really matter, FoxTrot lets you narrow the number of hits by clicking on several categories. FoxTrot dynamically selects relevant categories based on the information and content of the files found. This advanced method, derived from scientific investigation techniques, lets you successively tag hits by file kind, age or parent folder. Advanced dynamic categorization is a unique FoxTrot feature.

- flexible relevance ranking

Typical searches yield too many results: FoxTrot's exclusive ranking mechanism weighs each search result, and displays most relevant documents first. If you're overwhelmed by the number, a slider allows you to perform the search again with a more discriminating eye.

- wildcards, exclusions and more

Searches can be made to include:

- all words in a search string
 - at least one of the words
 - an exact phrase
 - any term except as well
- as complex search patterns combining several criteria.

If you're using Mac OS X 10.3.x or 10.2.x

Users of Mac OS X 10.3.x and 10.2.x get with FoxTrot Personal Search the ultra-fast and precise find-by-content solution for their most important files even without Mac OS X 10.4 and Spotlight!

At a fraction of the cost and hassle of moving to Mac OS X 10.4, your Mac supports with:

- OS X 10.3.x and FoxTrot Personal Search indexing and find-by-content for PDF, HTML, Word .doc, rtf rich text, Unicode, plain text types and file names.

- OS X 10.2.x and FoxTrot Personal Search indexing and find-by-content for PDF, rtf rich text, Unicode, plain text types and file names.

In 10.3.x and 10.2.x FoxTrot Personal Search will even find and play mp3 files and QuickTime movies and display pictures.

If you're using Windows

FoxTrot Personal Search for Windows is currently under development. If you are interested in being notified, write an e-mail to ctm-info@ctmdev.com.

In a nutshell

If you are a Mac OS X 10.4 user, FoxTrot Personal Search offers a new level of quality of finding information in your files faster and provides search results that are more relevant than ever.

If you are a Mac OS X 10.3.x or 10.2.x user and plan to move to Mac OS X 10.4 mainly because of Spotlight, think twice and try FoxTrot Personal Search first.

What our test users say:

„FoxTrot Personal Search really brings a new dimension to managing relevant files on my PowerBook. I previously had to come up with file names and complex folder structures just be able to find information; thanks to FoxTrot, I now store thousands of documents of various types in a single folder and instantly find exactly what I had been looking for.“

G. Christen, Zürich Switzerland

„Spotlight is okay if I have few clues about what I'm looking for, but it produces way too many results without a reasonable kind of ranking. With FoxTrot Personal Search I really find what I need. It provides a new level of quality in personal search.“

J. Alvaro, Pleasanton CA US

„Hey great — on my 10.3 system I have now a more powerful find tool than my husband using Spotlight. I'm getting him FoxTrot Personal Search, so he can do the dishes with the spared time!“

M. Porchet, Gland Switzerland

„At last ! The tremendous e-mail search within CTM PowerMail is now available for all my files and servers. Thank you, thank you, thank you!“

Violetta Bachtel, PowerMail user
